Tübingen, The Castle Hohentübingen is situated on a hill overlooking the town, and was erected by Duke Ulrich in 1535 in the Renaissance style. It possesses a richly decorated outer portal of 1606 and an inner gateway of 1538 (restored 1892). Within its walls are the University Library and the Observatory. The chief sights shown to visitors are the cellars, which contain an immense cask (18,700 gallons) and a deep well in the courtyard which formerly descended to the level of the Neckar.
